This is another podcast from one of the many podcasts that I like to listen to. This one is from the I Had to Say It podcast.

Twitts and Shortages

Ok so Elon has effectively bought Twitter. There are still steps to go through but more or less it's a done deal. Great. Meanwhile in coverage you have to dig for to find the food supply issues are getting worse. There is going to be a shift in what a lot of us are used to dealing with as far as day to day goes. I will touch on it a bit and mention a few things you might want to think about for the grand scheme of things. Also Friday guest episodes are coming back. Hope you like it. I'm excited, you should be too.
