Yesterday I briefly mentioned the Trump Tariffs and the risk it might pose to our economy, but today I want to do a full deep dive and look at some historical evidence that suggests we may be looking at a very serious economic collapse if other nations respond in kind to the Trump tariffs.

But before that, I want to rehash something we discussed yesterday.

I think some of you may have misunderstood what I meant when I suggested a Gun Violence Restraining Order might be a good way to reduce gun violence.

It was suggested in the private facebook group that this might violate someone's due process so today I want to clarify, so there's no question.

Have a great weekend!
