This is another podcast from one of the many podcasts that I like to listen to. This one is from the I Had to Say It podcast.

The FIRST EVER, with an asterisk

In this episode I touch on the new supreme court justice, my particular issues with her, and the way the woke left is trying to pull a gotcha moment with a bill by pointing out that it does EXACTLY WHAT IT WAS INTENEDED TO DO. Also a bit of bitching about the general state of affairs in this country and shout outs to the things I think will make your life better.
