This is another podcast from one of the many podcasts that I like to listen to. This one is from the I Had to Say It podcast.

Follow Ups, housing market woes, and a checkmark

In this episode we follow up on some topics I talked about last week. Then we discuss some governmental shenanigans that will be screwing over people who have been doing what they were supposed to to benefit those who either can't or won't. Finally we talk about the twitter check marks.
