

I Had to Say it podcast - Naps are under rated

Posted At : September 9, 2026 12:00 AM | Posted By : Jason

Related Categories: Liberty, podcasts, I Had to Say It

This is another podcast from one of the many podcasts that I like to listen to. This one is from the I Had to Say It podcast.

Naps are under rated

So yeah, this week I got to the stream late. I took a nap. Naps are an under rated experience, that are wasted on the young. Other cultures have established nap times, we need to get back to that here. I didn't talk about that in the show or anything, just my thoughts as I sit here uploading the episode. Another one with no editing, no filter and no cares about who I bother. I did talk about the continuing shenanigans with the Lindsay Clancy case. The jurors are doing interviews now. They are all probably worse than you thought. These women are out of their damn minds. They basically admitted she did it, and are still pissed that one man refused to acquit her. Horrible human beings. And her lawyer is absolute scum. I used to just think he was another guy chasing a check, but he is a absolute deplorable person and should probably be disbarred.

Go to the website, do the things.

ihadtosayitpodcast.com

<https://ihadtosayitpodcast.com/>