This is another podcast from one of the many podcasts that I like to listen to. This one is from the Jason Stapleton Program, definately worth a listen!

The Big Lie: Why Secondary Education is WRONG for Most People

As you know I am a HUGE advocate of alternative education. It's cheaper, teaches specific skill sets and generally provides a better quality of education because those producing it either work in the field they teach in or run professional programs that keep up closely with industry changes.

But we have a literal and figurative institution around higher education that needs to be addressed. Today we'll look at an article written by George Kuh, chancellor professor emeritus of higher education at Indiana University and break down why I think he's wrong what's best for students of the future.
