This is another podcast from one of the many podcasts that I like to listen to. This one is from the I Had to Say It podcast.

I'm NOT saying this is what they are doing.

So there was a little incident with a cruise ship this week and an outbreak of the hantavirus. It's far more lethal than COVID ever was, but less transmittable. They are saying it has begun human to human transmission. The whole thing stinks on ice, in my opinion. As always I have thoughts. I also discuss mother's day, the alien files release, and talk about a lovely honey siracha wing glaze. And it's a short one. Go do the things
