This is another podcast from one of the many podcasts that I like to listen to. This one is from the I Had to Say It podcast.

The technical difficulties will continue until morale improves

Once again Aaron is having technical difficulties, so the workstation is down, but I tried dangnabit. This episode is uploaded as a video because I am still trying to put my desktop back in order and I had to choose between doing that and downloading the software to edit and rip the audio onto the laptop, which I have set up for 3d printing work. So this is what ya get. Unpolished, raw & real, and what I think about the goings on this weekend. Plus an Indian Rice pudding recipe. As usual go do the things.
