This is another podcast from one of the many podcasts that I like to listen to. This one is from the I Had to Say It podcast.

Another week, another show

Welp, the technical problems persist. Seriously someone buy me a mac, everyone says they are bulletproof for this nonsense. In this episode I revisit the flock camera thing with some feedback from friend of the show Iceman of the Motorcop Chronicles Podcast. Also I briefly discuss the current nonsense coming out of the leftist clowns and their DSA endorsements. Then we spend about 20 minutes talking about making a new product and potential delivery vectors for it. It seriously might be a thing. We'll have to see if I can make it work. Anyways, go do the things, support the show, help finance the madness we discussed. Seriously, I'm doing it so if you listen and decide you want to be a lab rat for it, get a hold of me via either the website, shoot me an email, or hit me up on any of the socials. Also, I didn't think of mentioning this in the show, but I am going to add a poll. Last week I was told posting the vido on spotify was good. I may start doing that every week even if I get my computer situation remedied. So for this week there is another video episode, but if I am still in the same boat next week I am going back to audio only for the posted episode. It will take longer on this machine, but I feel like the un-cut stuff is tedious to listen to.
