I'm not surprised Guliani went on Hannity when he wanted to defend Trump. The big question is WHY he decided to go on national TV and WHY he said what he said.

Today we'll discuss the two "bombshells" the media claims he dropped.

From there we'll discuss the Koreas. Turns out they may find there way to a peaceful settlement of hostilities. That's good for both countries but what about the 25k + troops stationed there?

I also give you a couple of great books I've read recently that I think you'll like.
