Over the years Monsanto has continued to draw heat from farmers and citizens alike. Now Monsanto may finally pay the price for years of heavy-handed tactics and deception.

DeWayne Johnson is dying and he says his cancer was caused by Roundup, a herbicide manufactured by Monsanto. In fact, there are 4000 people bringing a class action against the company claiming Monsanto deliberately covered up the risks associated with their product for decades.

DeWayne hopes he can stay alive long enough to expose Monsanto and the truth about the damage their product has done to so many people.

Ever wonder what the government does with all that unconstitutionally obtained information they've acquired about you, your life, habits, and...well, everything else?

Turns out they used to keep it in a decentralized network that helped keep hackers from accessing all of it from a single point.

But all that is changing. It looks like our government is moving all that secret data to a centralized, cloud-based storage system. Way to go government! I give it 3 months.
