Yesterday I told you about the attack on Alex Jones and in my comments, I pointed out that it probably wouldn't end with Jones. Today we see that Twitter has extended it's attack to Libertarians Scott Horton and Daniel McAdams from the Ron Paul Institute.

Today I want to take some time to point out how damaging this is and shine a light on the hypocrisy of the left. We'll take a look at some climate change predictions and some memes by Occupy Democrats as examples. It's a sad state of affairs when discourse in America has been reduced to censorship on social media sites.

I've also got some really sobering news about our debt and the reality of our financial situation. We've got a lot of bills coming due over the next few years and no way to pay for them. The system is starting to collapse and you need to be aware of just how bad it is.
