This is another podcast from one of the many podcasts that I like to listen to. This one is from the I Had to Say It podcast.

You've gotta be friggin kidding me.

Well, more news about the Lindsay Clancy trial. Apparently the jurors are morons too. At least some of them. So I have thoughts on the matter. I also discuss some 2A stuff, my pathetic excuse of a governor, some friends of the show, and a bit of rambling. The show started out with some technical difficulties, because of course it did. And we discussed the first recipe I have given out that I recommend that no one make. Ever.

Go watch my friend's stuff. He puts a lot of work into it and deserves some recognition. <https://www.youtube.com/@ForcedValor>
