This is another podcast from one of the many podcasts that I like to listen to. This one is from the I Had to Say It podcast.

Orange Jeebus Wants your vote

So the usual technical glitches, a late start, repeated drops from the stream, and no video. So it's almost like an old episode. In this one I talk about how I disagree with the promise of 5k if the Republicans win the midterms. From there it slips into a rant about public education, qualifications for voting, parenting, cocktails, and a lovely bloody Mary tomato sauce recipe.
